MISTAKE THAT DOOMED 19 HERO FIREFIGHTERS

FIRST to KNOW

CHALK one up for Michelle Obama! After the first lady banned “Scandal” star Kerry Washington from the White House due to President Barack Obama’s obsession with her, the sexy beauty settled for another guy.

Sources say that’s the untold story behind Kerry’s hush-hush marriage to hunky San Francisco 49ers football star Nnamdi Asomugha!

“Kerry finally realized that she didn’t have a chance at Barack and was forced to find someone else,” a source told The ENQUIRER.

“But if Michelle hadn’t been so over-protective of her husband, Kerry may never have ended things.”

AS THE ENQUIRER HAS REPORTED, 49-year-old Michelle flew into a jealous rage at her husband for appointing Kerry, 36, to his arts and humanities committee. Michelle’s jealousy kicked into high gear after the flirter-in-chief then invited Kerry to his second inauguration in January.

A rattled Michelle even copied Kerry’s hairstyle – sporting bangs similar to those the “Django Unchained” stunner debuted at this year’s Golden Globes.

With Michelle on the warpath, sources say Kerry backed off and started dating Asomugha, who was born in Louisiana to Nigerian parents.

The couple tied the knot on June 24 in Idaho with her parents as witnesses.

It’s the first marriage for Kerry. She was previously engaged to actor David Moscow, who played the young Tom Hanks in “Big.” But that relationship ended in 2007. Her new hubby, 31, is no stranger to Hollywood either – with small parts on the sitcom “The Game,” “Friday Night Lights” and “Leverage.” He’s also chairman of his family’s charitable foundation, and former President Bill Clinton has invited him several times to speak at the Clinton Global Initiative University.

“Now that Kerry has found her own man, Michelle can finally breathe a sigh of relief,” said the source.

“She might even consider lifting her White House ban, as long as Kerry shows up with her husband in tow!”

The perpetually peeved radio host was furious over what Angie revealed in an interview

◀ DR. LAURA BADMOUTHS MOMS

DR. LAURA SCHLESSINGER took a swipe at two popular actresses, accusing them of being bad mothers!

The controversial radio host blasted “Rizzoli & Isles” star Angie Harmon for leaving her three young girls at home in North Carolina while she filmed her hit TNT series in Los Angeles. She also let Kyra Sedgwick, former star of “The Closer,” have it for suggesting that Angie put her kids out of her mind to concentrate on her work.

Dr. Laura, 66, was reacting to an interview in which Angie revealed how she used advice from mom of two Kyra – actor Kevin Bacon’s 47-year-old wife – to help her balance marriage, kids and a busy career.

“Kyra told me to keep my heart where my feet are,”

Actresses Angie Harmon and Kyra Sedgwick

Angie shared. “So when I’m at work, my heart stays at work, and when I’m at home, my heart stays at home. And with that in mind, I can sort of stay on track.”

THAT STRUCK A NERVE WITH DR. LAURA, who’s penned a book called “In Praise of Stay-at-Home Moms.” On her Sirius XM radio broadcast on June 29, Dr. Laura questioned why 40-year-old Angie bothered giving birth to her daughters – Finley, 9, Avery, 8, and Emery, 4 – if she was going to abandon them for weeks at a time.

“Dr. Laura was apoplectic that Angie would leave her kids home with their dad while she filmed her TV show in Los Angeles,” said a source. “And she was even more upset that Angie would tell Angie to basically just forget about her kids and get on with the job at hand.”

WEDDING bells are set to ring for Tina Turner!

After more than 25 years together, the “Proud Mary” singer will marry beau Erwin Bach on July 15 in Switzerland, a source tells THE ENQUIRER.

Tina, 73, met Bach, 57, while he was an executive at her record label.

They’ve been dating since 1987 and have lived in Switzerland since 1995.

THEY’LL SAY “I DO” AT THEIR chateau on the shore of Lake Zurich, and the bride will wear an Armani gown that she chose during a June trip to Milan, says an insider.

Wedding guests, including designer Giorgio Armani, have reportedly been asked to wear white. The reception will be catered by chefs from the bride’s favorite Zurich restaurant.

It’s the second marriage for the eight-time Grammy winner, who was born Anna Mae Bullock in Nutbush, Tenn. She divorced her first husband, Ike Turner, following years of abuse. He died in 2007 of an accidental cocaine overdose.

The wedding comes after the ageless “What’s Love Got to Do With It” singer outraged many fans in January by announcing that she’s giving up her U.S. passport to become a Swiss citizen. Her rep later clarified that she’ll be “giving up” her passport. “I’m very happy in Switzerland and I feel at home here,” Tina said. “I cannot imagine a better place to live.”

FIGHTING FLAB

DISGRACED gridiron great O.J. Simpson is so embarrassed about his bulging belly and flapping chin skin that he's embarked on an extreme diet.

The 65-year-old convict, who's serving time in a Nevada prison for armed robbery and kidnapping, made international headlines after a Las Vegas court appearance in May – for being FAT!

As The ENQUIRER reported, it was the fallen star's first public outing in more than four years – and onlookers were stunned by how much weight he'd piled on. O.J. bragged about how women still love him even though he's fat, but obviously, he isn't thrilled at his tremendous weight gain.

NOW, AN INSIDER AT THE LOVELOCK Correctional Center says O.J. is working out like a madman and starving himself in an effort to get back in shape.

"When O.J. walked into that courtroom, there was an audible gasp from the gallery," an eyewitness said. "The officers had him in shackles, but they needed an extra large chain to fit around his waist."

When O.J. saw the mocking headlines the following day – with some calling him "Fat Albert" – he vowed to "show the world" he could get back into fighting shape.

"The next day O.J. tried to run on the track, but he had to stop and walk," said the insider.

"He's just too fat. So now he puts on his headphones and walks around that track for a couple hours a day."

O.J., whose weight reportedly topped out at around 300 pounds, also does pushups and crunches in his cell.

"His diet consists of more fruits and vegetables now," noted the insider. "Before, when he was packing on the pounds, he was eating a lot of starch and foods high in carbohydrates."

Just a month into it, O.J.'s regimen seems to be working.

CHAZ BONO knows his mom has led a colorful life, but he wishes she'd shut up about it already!

During a recent appearance on Bravo's "Watch What Happens Live," superstar Cher admitted to host Andy Cohen that she'd had a lesbian fling in the past. "Who hasn't?" the 67-year-old said coyly.

Chaz was furious about the comment because he remembers how terrible she was to him when he was a teenaged girl named Chastity and came out of the closet as a lesbian, says a source.

"The truth is that Cher rejected Chastity when she came out, and now Chaz sees his mom's lesbian admission as the height of hypocrisy," explained the source. "Making matters worse, Chaz believes Cher orchestrated the interview to play to her gay following, primarily because she has a new album coming out.

"HE'S VERY UPSET WITH HER."

The 44-year-old lived life as a gay woman for years before deciding to transition to life as a man. And in his 1998 book, "Family Outing," a gay icon and an ally to LGBT

But now, Cher is singing a different tune, and Chaz suspects his mom’s timing is not only good for her career but also strategic considering that the U.S. Supreme Court just ruled in favor of gay rights in two landmark decisions supporting same-sex marriages.

“Chaz thinks Cher is jumping on the gay and lesbian bandwagon because it’s in the news and fashionable to do so,” said the source.

Still, this isn’t the first time that Cher has admitted to having sexual flings with women. In a 1995 interview, the “Woman’s World” singer told “The Advocate” that although she’d had same-sex relationships when she was younger, she was “scared” when she found out that Chastity was a lesbian.

“I just didn’t want it to be the truth,” Cher said.

Charlize Theron is feeling threatened by Scarlett

CHARLIZE THERON fears she’ll lose her fat Dior deal if rival Scarlett Johansson continues her love affair with all things French.

Sources say reps for the fashion giant have told the Oscar-winning “Monster” star – who reportedly banks $5 million a year as the face for Dior’s signature fragrance line J’Adore – that she “needs to be more French.”

Meanwhile, 28-year-old Scarlett is fast becoming the A-list darling of Paris thanks to her French “Vanity Fair” cover and romance with Frenchman Romain Dauriac, a former art journalist.

“Scarlett adores Paris and has spent months there with Romain,” a source told The ENQUIRER.

“Besides that, the French have really responded to her photos in ‘Vanity Fair,’ especially one shot that’s reminiscent of Brigitte Bardot.”

Scarlett’s French “Vanity Fair” cover

That’s got Los Angeles-based Charlize, 37, on edge, said the source.

“Charlize has done really well for Dior, but the company has to stay fresh,” explained the source. “They’re worried that Charlize comes across as too aloof and are looking at Scarlett as a possible replacement.”

So Charlize is now scrambling to keep the lucrative gig. “She’s taking French lessons twice a week and listens to French tapes in the car to become more fluent,” revealed the source. “She also dines with Dior execs regularly to brainstorm ideas about how she can be more appealing to their French customer base.”

“But Charlize feels that no matter what she does, Scarlett is a real threat. She knows that if she wants to keep her Dior deal, she has to up her game.”

Chiropractors treat ailing critters JUST LIKE HUMANS

“Elephants are prone to arthritis because of their weight”

CHIROPRACTORS have gone to the dogs – and elephants, pigs, iguanas and even rodeo bulls too! “I’ve helped cure thousands of animals,” boasts Dr. Rod Block, who worked as a regular chiropractor for three decades before switching to animals 16 years ago. Now, he’s one of 560 spine-crackers certified by the American Veterinary Chiropractic Association.

“ONE OF THE FIRST ANIMALS I worked on was an out-of-control pony,” recalls the Irvine, Calif.-based doc. “The vet had thrown his hands up in the air after all the medications he had prescribed didn’t work. So out of desperation, he asked if I would help.

“As soon as I approached, the pony started rearing up on its hind legs, snorting and stamping its feet. I could tell he was in a lot of discomfort. Then I noticed he wasn’t putting his head back when he reared, so I immediately had suspicions there was something wrong in his upper neck.”

The poor pony was too agitated to be examined, but Block moved in slowly and calmly, aiming his laser – a tool which uses infrared light to reduce pain and inflammation – at the pony’s neck. Before long, he was able to gain the animal’s trust.

Dr. Matthew Cooper performs an adjustment on a poodle. Below, Dr. Block has also treated pigs and iguanas

In two or three minutes he started responding,” says Block. “I found the whole problem was being caused by inflammation that was putting pressure on the pony’s brain stem. By relieving pressure in that area with the laser and manual adjustments, we brought the pony back to health again.”

His next patients were five Asian performing elephants.

“Elephants are prone to arthritis because of their weight,” he explains. “But it begins with muscle problems, so if you can fix their muscles, you can prevent the

Block has also worked with a paralyzed iguana, a turkey, pigs, llamas, alpacas, dogs, cats “and most everything else that flies or walks on four legs.”

The key to treatment, he says, is observation and becoming sensitive to the way an animal sees the world.

KRISTIN DAVIS has come a long way since her bachelor-chasing days on “Sex and the City” – she’s now leading the charge to save African elephants!

The 48-year-old actress, who played Charlotte York in the hit HBO dramedy, recently kicked off an online fundraiser to buy a helicopter for the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust.

KRISTIN HAS worked with the organization for several years – and the group is desperate to have a chopper to combat Kenya’s poachers, who are decimating the elephant population.

“In recent years, illegal poaching has reached a crisis level,” Kristin wrote on a fundraising website. “If poaching continues at the current rate, all wild elephants will be extinct in 10 years.

“They need a helicopter to protect this beautiful, natural land and the animals who live there. They have trained rangers ready. They have vets ready. We just need a way to get them there quickly to save the elephants’ lives.

“Let’s get them a helicopter!”

Kristin, who adopted an infant daughter, Gemma Rose, nearly two years ago, has also welcomed elephants into her family by paying for their care. In 2009, she helped rescue and “adopted” Chaimu, an abandoned female elephant from the lava slopes of Kenya’s Chyulu Hills. And while on another trip to the African nation on June 18, she added a baby elephant, Ajuba, to her crew.

“Kristin has always been passionate about animals,” said an insider. “She wants to make sure that our future generations are not deprived of seeing elephants in their natural state.”

BIG-SCREEN beauty Kirsten Dunst's red-hot romance with her "On the Road" co-star Garrett Hedlund has hit a dead-end!

After nearly two years together, hunky Garrett, 28, suddenly told the "Spider-Man" cutie, 31, that he has "no interest in marriage or babies," revealed an insider.

"Kirsten is putting on a brave front, but she's absolutely devastated," the source told The ENQUIRER.

"The sad part is that she's desperate to be a mom, and up until recently Garrett was on the same page.

"BUT GARRETT WANTS TO GROW UP a little bit first. He's told Kirsten point-blank that he's not even sure if she's the girl that he wants to spend the rest of his life with.

"Now, she feels like an idiot because she was telling anyone who'd listen that they were getting engaged and ready to start a family. She's head over heels in love with Garrett, and this has totally blindsided her."

It's a dramatic turn, seeing how engagement rumors have long swirled around the couple. Reports first claimed that Garrett proposed on Kirsten's 30th birthday in April 2012. And another round of rumors had the "Country Strong" heartthrob popping the question on New Year's Eve.

"After Kirsten's 30th birthday, her mom Inez started telling her friends that a wedding was 'imminent,'" said the source.

"For the better part of a year, her conversations with Kirsten were all about Garrett being a husband and a dad, her wedding dress and their honeymoon."

But Garrett never proposed, and now pals are telling Kirsten – who seriously dated "Brokeback Mountain" star Jake Gyllenhaal – to dump him, said the source.

Despite that, "Kirsten is still hoping it's just a case of cold feet," said the source. "But her friends are screaming at her to move on. No one thinks they'll get through this."

Amazing prosthetic breasts were created for Agnes Bruckner (at right with her real chest)

A B-list actress has busted into the big-time starring in the made-for-TV movie "Anna Nicole" – and she owes it all to her made-for-TV falsies!

Gorgeous Agnes Bruckner, 27, landed her first regular acting gig on the daytime soap "The Bold and the Beautiful" when she was just 11.

BUT SOURCES SAY it's her role as the doomed 38DD party girl in the Lifetime biopic that's got Hollywood buzzing.

"Playing Anna Nicole has put Agnes on the fast track to stardom," an insider told THE ENQUIRER.

"But while her acting is getting raves, it's her B-cup makeover that's got people scratching their heads. Agnes was perfect for the role, except for one thing – her breasts weren't nearly the size of Anna Nicole's."

But Agnes refused to go under the knife, the source said, so producers hired makeup artist Greg Cannom – who transformed Robin Williams into a dowdy housekeeper for "Mrs. Doubtfire"

Anna Nicole actress used falsies for big role

The real Anna Nicole

– to perform a special kind of boob job.

Four-time Oscar winner Cannom designed realistic, state-of-the-art prosthetic breasts made of gel-filled silicone that matched Anna Nicole's mounds.

The life-like appendages were applied to Agnes every morning in grueling three-hour fitting sessions, and jiggled just like real breasts in the film's key pole-dancing scenes.

"They couldn't have been any more real looking," Agnes told a reporter.

"It was so strange, wearing them for the first time. I'd look at myself, and I kept thinking, 'Oh, my God, could you imagine if they really were that big?'"

In the end, sources say Agnes became so attached to her made-for-TV breasts that she missed them when production wrapped.

"Agnes thought about asking if she could keep a set of the Anna boobs as a souvenir," said the source. "But then she decided that was just too weird."

KELLY RIPA is struggling with a rare and incurable neurological disorder that's causing a terrible strain on her and her family. The perky "Live!" host, 42, admits that even the sounds of her family chewing and swallowing make her "insane" and can send her into a rage.

But an insider says her devoted husband Mark Consuelos is battling to keep Kelly's self-diagnosed condition, known as misophonia, in check.

"Kelly says that her anxiety level increases considerably when she's exposed to certain sounds," divulged a longtime friend. "Her condition is getting worse and she's prone to sudden reactions of intense anger and annoyance, usually triggered by a noise made by Mark or somebody close by."

"It may sound funny but it's not! Kelly can become enraged at anyone for something as simple as chewing with their mouth open. Mark has to remain calm and explain to the people that Kelly isn't really mad at them. It's something she just can't control, but it's led to yelling and screaming...and tears."

THE SOURCE ALSO "SUSPECTS" THAT downtown noise was part of the reason Mark and Kelly put their loft in the SoHo section of New York on the market for $24.5 million in January.

Meanwhile, the beloved TV star says she's wrestled with the little-understood disorder since she was a child.

"As early as I can remember, certain sounds of eating bothered me," Kelly revealed in a 2012 interview on ABC's "20/20." Although her representative stated that she has never been diagnosed with the disorder, Ripa has talked at length about her aversion to certain sounds.

And things haven't gotten any better, as she said: "The sounds of people chewing gum can really enrage me." Kelly, who says the condition has not harmed her career, added that quiet dinners with Mark, 42, and their children – Michael, 16, Lola, 12, and Joaquin, 10 – can be a recipe for disaster. If one of them is chomping, slurping, gulping, or even swallowing too loudly, "my gut reaction is to yell, but I control that," Kelly said. "If my husband eats a peach, I have to leave the room."

Misophonia is a rare disorder that literally means "hatred of sound."

"Dealing with misophonia takes a lot of patience from every member of the family," Melanie Herzfeld, an audiologist from Woodbury, N.Y., who has not personally treated Ripa, told The ENQUIRER.

"Dealing with misophonia takes a lot of patience from each family member, along with qualified help from therapists who understand the disorder."

Board-certified audiologist Cindy Ann Simon of South Miami Audiology Consultants, who also does not treat Ripa, added: "To reduce misophonia triggers, I use special noise reduction ear plugs and noise cancellation devices."

While Kelly's condition is tough on her, other sufferers appreciate her candidness. In fact, the misophonia.com website contains a video of Kelly's appearance on "20/20" and notes: "Thanks to Kelly Ripa, this condition was noticed by thousands of people in America and across the globe."

In the meantime, former "All My Children" star Mark has helped Kelly cope by giving her moral support and organizing frequent visits to a getaway in Telluride, Colo., a source says.

"He can anticipate the sound triggers that will set her off. He will do anything humanly possibly to make sure Kelly avoids them."

"It was Mark who suggested they buy the mountain retreat in Telluride for the peace and quiet," noted the family insider. "He knows it's therapeutic for her and the whole family. In fact, they recently vacationed there."

"Mark is doing everything he can to help Kelly combat the disorder so the whole family can live in peace."

"Maggie doesn't think Jake is being serious about his life," said a source. "She thinks he's acting harder to find true happiness like she has."

But according to a friend, Jake became a commitment-phobe after his heartbreaking bust-up with Reese.

"It was really a kick in the stomach to Jake," the friend said. "He thought they were going to get married and spend their lives together."

And it was only salt in Jake's wounds when, within weeks, Reese started dating Hollywood agent Jim Toth. The two wed in 2011 and now have a 9-month-old son, Tennessee.

"She tells her personal trainer, 'Well, Derek said I should work out this way,' she tells the members of her band that Derek should join them on tour, and she even tells her husband she'd like Derek to come and stay with them.

"Kyle's not the jealous type, but he's like, 'Enough with Derek already!'" with fellow "DWTS" pro Mark Ballas, but it tanked. Kellie believes that if he changes his sound to country he'll be a huge success – and she wants to lead his parade in Nashville.

Derek, 28, recorded a pop album in 2009

While the 27-year-old firecracker has admitted to having a "little crush" on Derek, sources insist her hubby has nothing to worry about.

"Kyle is kind of used to Kellie's hyper happy behavior and laughs about it," the source added. "But he still told her that Derek isn't moving in with them!"

MISTAKE THAT DOOMED 19 ARIZONA FIREFIGHTERS

ARIZONA's Granite Mountain Hotshots didn't have to die.

An exclusive ENQUIRER investigation has uncovered startling evidence that a communications breakdown probably cost the 19 brave firefighters their lives in the deadly Yarnell Hill fire near Prescott, Ariz., on June 30.

The courageous crew, it appears, never received a critical radio warning of an impending weather change that soon caused the roaring inferno to sweep over the unsuspecting men, giving them no time to escape.

"If they had received the warning that the weather was changing and would push the fire in their direction, they would have had plenty of time to evacuate to a cleared position," a fire expert told The ENQUIRER. "Those firefighters would still be alive today.

"WHAT HAPPENED TO THEM IS unconscionably tragic and could have been avoided if the proper communications had been in place. Their deaths were unnecessary."

In fact, The ENQUIRER has learned that two communications repeaters – devices that improve low radio signals – were put on high ground near the fire the day AFTER the Hotshots died.

"Clearly, they did not have sufficient warning about the approaching weather change," Dr. William Stewart, forestry and fire specialist with the UC Berkeley Center for Fire Research and Outreach, told The ENQUIRER. "They were highly skilled professionals. They had their lookout posted, they had checkpoints, and they had clearings. If they had received that warning in time, they would have moved out."

The only person from the crew who survived the inferno, Brendan McDonough, 21, was acting as a lookout and warned the rest of the Hotshots of the approaching wind shift before leaving his position. But, sadly, his warning came too late.

Shockingly, in a report dated June 18, the day the fire

ENQUIRER found evidence that a communications breakdown probably cost all but one of the Granite Mountain Hotshots their lives

SAFENET Event Information

Yesterday ALL our phones & ALL of our computers were not sufficiently working. We had to shut down our computers several times for the programs to load. ROSS was and still is giving us all kinds of error messages, AFF (MAJOR SAFETY ISSUES) wouldn't load, etc. These are the two programs we rely heavily on in Dispatch.

ALL of our phones have a delay when answering, calls are dropping, calls aren't able to come through, etc.

There is no absolute way we can remain as efficient as we should be when half the time we are running around trying to fix these on-going problems. During initial attack we do not have time to stop everything and put in a severity, Level 1 ticket and even if we did, the problem is never taken seriously and never completely resolved for the long-term.

I can't stress enough dealing with this on top of the stress of managing wildland fires, trying to keep everyone safe (#1Priority) and getting resources to the folks on the ground, is a major safety issue in all aspects of our job.

This has been an on-going problem and happens EVERY time we have an incident. It is unacceptable! We need to remain at a high operational level 365 days out of the year.

began, an unnamed dispatcher from the National Inter-agency Fire Center (NIFC) complained that there were "acceptable" problems with the agency's communications.

"All of our phones have a delay when answering, calls are dropping, calls aren't able to come through, etc.," the dispatcher said. "This has been an ongoing problem and happens EVERY time we have an incident. It is unacceptable. The problem is never taken seriously and never resolved for the long-term."

Despite the foreboding nature of the dispatcher's warning, a spokesman for the NIFC, Randall Eardley, said he wasn't "aware of any communication issues on June 30." An investigation is ongoing.

had been on the day of the disaster, the National Weather Service spotted an ominous storm approaching on radar and twice notified the command center, which normally would pass the warning to the firefighters on the ground. But no one knows what happened after that.

"Unlike cell phones, radios don't have a history of transmission," Dr. Stewart noted. "Chances are we may never know when, or if, they got that message."

'DON'T LET ME DIE!'

Randy's father
Harold Traywick

■ Randy Travis' desperate plea as he lay on deathbed

■ Family's tearful vigil for troubled singer, 54

■ Furious dad blames boozing & cheating

Country singer Travis had been on a busy tour schedule in recent months, and friends fear his wild lifestyle may have weakened his heart

"DON'T let me die!" That's the plea Randy Travis made from his Texas hospital bed as friends and family gathered tearfully around his Plano home, praying that the legendary but troubled country star would survive.

Travis, 54, was admitted to the hospital on July 7, stricken with a deadly case of viral cardiomyopathy, a virus that attacks the heart muscle. Friends fear the crooner's wild lifestyle had weakened his heart and helped cause the infection.

"If he was a drinker, then alcohol weakened his heart," Dr. Matthew Budoff, a cardiologist at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA who does not treat Travis, told The ENQUIRER.

Travis, after years of being a heavy drinker, spent almost two decades on the wagon while married to his ex-wife Lib Hatcher. However, following their 2010 divorce – after Lib caught Randy having an affair with Mary Beougher, the wife of his dentist – the country singer went back to the bottle.

And Randy's grief-stricken dad, Harold Traywick, who is estranged from his son, places the blame for his son's alcohol troubles squarely on Mary.

THE ENQUIRER BROKE THE NEWS that Randy had been hospitalized to his dad, and in an exclusive interview, he said: "Randy started drinking again when he got together with Mary, and his life just fell apart."

Meanwhile, a source close to the family told The ENQUIRER: "Randy was pleading with Mary when he checked into the hospital, 'Don't let me die! I want to live!'"

Travis had been pushing his luck in recent times. In February 2012, Once he started drinking again, he got really messed up" he was arrested for public intoxication. The following August, he was discovered sprawled naked on the road and drunk after a car crash, receiving a $2,000 fine and a 180-day suspended sentence. Three weeks after that, he was cited for assault after a drunken fistfight with Mary's ex-husband in a Texas church parking lot.

"The life he'd been living with Mary didn't do him any good," his dad told The ENQUIRER. "Once he started drinking again, he got really messed up."

And then he landed in the hospital. Travis had been on a busy tour schedule in recent months, building on his long career that included 20 studio albums, 16 No. 1 hits and seven Grammy awards.

"Randy never would have gone downhill if he hadn't lost Lib Hatcher," Traywick said of Randy's ex, who also served as the singer's manager.

"She kept him on the straight and narrow for a long time. But the last time I saw Randy and Mary, I could smell the liquor on both of them. Randy could never hold his liquor. He'd become a wild man."

NOW that bikini season is in full swing, Julia Roberts is making sure she's the only "Pretty Woman" to catch her hunky hubby's eye.

The 45-year-old Oscar-winner star has been visiting a Malibu "cellulite specialist" to zap her unsightly problem areas, says a source. — and to keep husband Danny Moder's eyes focused on her!

"JULIA IS DETERMINED NOT to turn into a flabby, covered-up, stroller-pushing, jeans-wearing housewife," a pal told The ENQUIRER.

"Danny is a fitness freak, and one of her biggest fears is that he will be checking out hot bikini babes on the beach while she hides under an umbrella. That's why Julia's been getting cellulite treatment. It's nonsurgical, takes about an hour, and it keeps her skin looking smooth and tight."

The still-stunning "Erin Brockovich" beauty and mother of three, who celebrated her 11th wedding anniversary with cameraman Danny on July 4, regularly visits Malibu's Veronica's Skin and Body Care spa. There, she's treated with an electronic "fat buster" device that uses acoustic impulses to break down lumpy areas under the skin, says the source.

The one-hour sessions can cost up to $300, with most patients undergoing six to nine treatments.

While Julia trusts Danny, 44, the pal says she worries because he left his first wife Vera for her, and she doesn't want that to happen to her.

"Julia still has an amazing body, but it's because she works hard at it," added the source. "She says, 'If Danny can have six-pack abs, then I can have a cellulite-free, rocking body.'"

"She calls it her 'marriage insurance.'"

WEIRD WINONA OUT OF CONTROL

Winona rarely leaves the house because she hates being around people, says a friend

'Eccentric' star NOW ACTING LIKE A HERMIT

WACKY Winona Ryder is getting weirder by the day, becoming a virtual recluse and taking potshots at her former friends.

Insiders say she's dyed her hair bright white and become obsessed with online shopping, filling her closets with unworn clothes that still have their tags. And just about the only time she leaves her home is when her cleaning staff arrives, because she can't stand talking to Winona has also been trash-talking her ex-BFF Gwyneth Paltrow and former flame Johnny Depp, a source tells The ENQUIRER.

"She's alienating so many people it's no wonder she's turning into a hermit," said a longtime friend of the 41-year-old actress.

Winona has a "major grudge" against Gwyneth because she believes the blonde-haired beauty made unflattering comments about her in an online lifestyle blog four years ago. And Winona also never got over Gwyneth beating her out for a plum role in the 1998 hit movie "Shakespeare in Love" — and winning an Oscar for it!

"Those comments were a huge embarrassment for her," the pal said.

The friend says Winona has also been blasting Depp, 50, for hooking up with 27-year Amber Heard not long after splitting with his longtime love, Vanessa Paradis, 40, last year.

"JOHNNY COULDN'T care less," said the friend, "but she's really ragging on him for being so predictable and going for a blonde in her twenties."

As The ENQUIRER reported in April, Winona had a fleeting hope she and "The Lone Ranger" star would reunite.

"It's really sad she's become so vindictive," the friend continued. "She rarely leaves the house because she hates being around people so much. And she makes sure her housekeepers don't speak English because that way they are less likely to know who she is."

"When she was younger, her eccentricities were perceived as cute and quirky, but now she's just bizarre."

Anna Greenberg passed away three days after watching Bette sing to her via cell phone

Bette Midler HEARTBREAK!

BIGHEARTED Bette Midler granted a dying fan's last wish – and sang her hit song “Wind Beneath My Wings” to the cancer-stricken 28-year-old days before she passed away.

Family members of the late Anna Greenberg have posted a video of Bette's phone call on YouTube, where it's touched tens of thousands of people.

“It was incredibly beautiful and moving,” a family friend told The ENQUIRER.

“Bette's kind words, as well as her song, meant the world to Anna.”

IN OCTOBER 2011, Anna was diagnosed with a rare malignant tumor that strikes skeletal muscles.

Ironically, she was working as a community relations manager for the American Cancer Society and became a spokeswoman after her tragic diagnosis. She underwent numerous surgeries, as well as chemotherapy and radiation treatments. But the cancer spread.

Anna met Bette in December at the Los Angeles premiere of her movie “Parental Guidance.” And on May 25, Bette spoke by cell phone with Anna in her hospital room in Tucson, Ariz.

Diva BREAKS DOWN SINGING to dying cancer patient

you how much your support means to me...and what a great spirit you have.”

Anna, gasping for breath, thanked Bette and later told her: “You have always brought me up when I was down, with many of your different songs.”

Anna requested that Bette sing “Wind Beneath My Wings,” the megahit song she first sang for her film “Beaches” (shown with co-stars Barbara Hershey and John Heard) “You're such an angel, you're such a wonderful soul,” Bette told her.

“I'm so glad I had the chance to meet you and look you in the eye and tell

When Bette, 67, asked if there was anything she could do for her, Anna requested that she sing “Wind Beneath My Wings,” the megahit song Bette first sang for her film “Beaches.”

Bette launched into the uplifting song but struggled with emotion as she reached the end, and broke down.

The eight-minute call ended with Bette saying: “All right my angel, big kiss.”

As her eyes filled with tears, Anna replied: “Received.”

Sadly, Anna lost her brave battle just three days later.

“I think Bette's song brought peace to her,” said the source. “She could die happy after that.”

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

THE hit movie "Cocktail" that helped catapult Tom Cruise to superstardom is celebrating its 25th anniversary, and The ENQUIRER has an album of exclusive photos from the bartender who taught Tom how to perform those eye-popping tricks while mixing drinks.

"Cocktail" raked in more than $171 million and cemented Cruise as a top box office draw following his mega-hit "Top Gun" and critically acclaimed drama "The Color of Money."

IN "COCKTAIL,"

Cruise plays a New York bartender who heads off to a posh resort in Jamaica to earn enough money to open up his own place with his mentor (Bryan Brown). But complications arise when he falls in love with a beautiful American artist, played by Elisabeth Shue.

The script called for Cruise and Brown to perform bartending tricks, like spinning, twirling and juggling booze bottles. So producers brought in Bar Olympics champion John Bandy to teach the actors the tricks of the trade.

"Tom was a regular guy and we got along really well," recalls Bandy, 47, of the actor's "ambidextrous," which made him a quick learner.

"I

REMEMBER

Tom and Bryan had a bet to see who would break more things as we practiced. But it was hard to score because one of them would drop something and it would bounce down the bar and smash a lot of stuff."

When the film wrapped, Bandy gave Cruise an inscribed cocktail shaker plaque and received a thank-you note in return. But his biggest reward was notoriety, as he parlayed his 15 minutes of fame into a career as a celebrity bartender.

"After the movie, I went on a world tour, spending eight years in thirty different countries, flipping bottles," says Bandy. "They were the best years of my life!"

“LITTLE House on the Prairie” child star Alison Arngrim grew up in Hollywood – and she’s revealing the secrets of top Tinseltown names on a cheeky LaLaLand bus tour.

The ENQUIRER tagged along as Alison, 51, shared her memories of local landmarks, including Gardner Street Elementary School in Hollywood – where Michael Jackson was one of her classmates – the Paramount Studio lot where “Little House” was shot, and the Hollywood sign, where patrons can have their photos snapped with the star.

At the famed Beverly Hilton hotel, Alison told about the time she nearly started World War III with her “Little House” co-star Melissa Gilbert.

“It was supposed to be hush-hush, but even as an 8-year-old, I knew Liberace wasn’t straight!”

Alison played Melissa’s nemesis, nasty Nellie Oleson, on the beloved series – and in a real-life twist, she says she nearly ruined Melissa’s Sweet 16 birthday party at the hotel in 1980 by embarrassing her in front of hunky actor Erik Estrada with a crack about Melissa being on birth control.

“IT WAS A BIG DEAL BECAUSE she had a crush on him – and she still hasn’t forgiven me,” joked Alison – a stand-up comic who also tours the country with her one-woman show, “Confessions of a Prairie Bitch.”

When the 12-passenger tour mini-bus stopped at a swanky high-rise apartment complex just off Sunset Boulevard, the tart-tongued blonde revealed she’d lived there with her parents while working on “Little House,” and they had a “really lazy” neighbor.

“This guy used to lie by the pool all day long while his poor wife worked two jobs to keep him afloat,” Alison told the patrons, who paid $75 a ticket for the three-hour tour. “My mom was always asking, ‘Why doesn’t that lazy Kevin Costner get a job?’”

Another neighbor at another time was Liberace, who lived across the street. Alison’s father worked for him and gave her strict instructions never to let on that the late entertainer was gay.

“It was supposed to be kept hush-hush,” Alison said, “but even as an 8-year-old girl, I knew that man wasn’t straight!”

Paula Deen $17M DIVORCE NIGHTMARE

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

IN the wake of Paula Deen's shocking racial scandal, the hits keep coming for the beleaguered TV cook – pals now fear she's headed for an ugly $17 million divorce battle with her husband Michael Groover!

Incredibly, the couple has no prenuptial agreement, and although Paula has maintained that her tugboat-captain hubby has his own money, pals are saying all bets are off at the moment.

"If they do divorce, Paula could have a real fight on her hands," said a source close to the family.

Michael is said to be furious over being dragged into the mess that exploded when The ENQUIRER exclusively broke the bombshell news that Paula admitted in a court deposition she'd used the N-word.

PAULA'S CONFESSION NOT ONLY toppled her multimillion-dollar culinary empire but also sent Michael into a rage because she revealed in the deposition that he liked to tell racial jokes, according to the friend. He's truly fed up with Paula and had it out with her in an ugly showdown. "Now that Paula has soiled his name, too, everyone fears it could be the final breaking point for their marriage," revealed the source.

"Michael is a quiet Southerner, a fifth-generation native of Savannah. He's a proud man and has had trouble being in the limelight. This scandal has been a nightmare for him. People blast Paula to his face for her racial slurs, and they're letting him have it, too. It's a case of guilt by association."

"Even his fishing buddies rib him about Paula's slurs and how they've become the talk of the nation."

"Michael is at the end of his rope. His closest friends believe he's going to file for divorce and get back to being a good ol' boy – without the publicity."

The 66-year-old queen of southern cooking made her disastrous comments when she was deposed for a lawsuit filed by a former manager of a Savannah, Ga., restaurant she co-owns with her brother Earl

Paula's store manager GOES BERSERK!

WITH emotions running high when Paula Deen's empire began crumbling, the distraught general manager of her Savannah retail store went home and, say cops, beat up her boyfriend.

Kristina Noelle Hoppe was said to be angry and frustrated over Paula's problems and allegedly got violent with her live-in lover Dennis Maher on June 29.

AFTER POLICE ARRIVED AT THE scene, spoke to both of them and observed their injuries, Kristina, 33, was taken into custody and charged with battery.

"Kristina adores Paula, so she flipped out when her idol began losing everything due to the racial slurs," a source told The ENQUIRER.

understands Paula, and they are going to ruin her life."

The official report from the Savannah-Chatham Metropolitan Police Department – obtained by The ENQUIRER – reveals the details of the domestic altercation.

Officer Travis Poole states that Kristina and Dennis, 38, said they had both been drinking and were arguing over money.

Poole noted that Dennis said "it became physical when Kristina started to hit him with her hands. In defense, he grabbed her wrist to stop the assault.

"Dennis added that he pushed Kristina away and she threw a flower pot at him."

OFFICIAL MUG SHOT

The boyfriend-turned-target had scratches on his neck and face, and his shirt was ripped, according to the officer.

Kristina admitted to throwing the flower pot.

She later claimed her boyfriend had pushed her over a porch railing, but apparently police weren't buying it since Dennis was not arrested. by PATRICIA SHIPP

"Bubba" Hiers. The former manager is suing Deen and her brother for alleged sexual and discrimination harassment.

After The ENQUIRER broke the deposition story, reaction was swift. The Food Network, Smithfield Foods, Walmart, Target and Caesars Entertainment, which operated Paula Deen-branded restaurants at four casinos, cut ties with the once-beloved cook.

But no one was rattled more by her remarks than 57-year-old Michael.

During the deposition, Paula denied ever using the N-word when telling jokes.

But when asked if other family members told jokes using the N-word, Paula said: "I'm sure they have. My husband is constantly telling me jokes."

Asked if she was offended by those jokes, she replied: "No, because it is my husband." When Michael learned what she'd said, "he went through the roof," divulged the insider.

blew the lid off the whole thing has now pushed it over the edge.

"Michael has just thrown up his hands at this point," said the source.

The two have had a rocky relationship from the beginning. In her autobiography, "It Ain't All About the Cookin'," Paula admits that fights between her and Michael's daughter Michelle nearly caused a split. And in the past year, rumors swirled around Savannah that Paula was getting ready to dump Michael when she dropped 45 pounds and was considering a cosmetic surgery touch-up.

Now, she's said to be secretly making plans to sell her Savannah mansion, valued at $4.1 million.

Meanwhile, records show that Paula's property interests are in the names of herself and her sons, Bobby and Jamie, but not Michael's.

"Michael appears to be a laid-back Southern guy," said the source, "but Paula could be faced with a doozy of a divorce battle!"

FORMER “Desperate Housewives” star Eva Longoria is traveling the world with her new love, Ernesto Arguello, but the Miami-based hunk has brought a LOT of baggage along for the ride!

The ENQUIRER has learned the self-described philanthropist and entrepreneur filed for bankruptcy last year with more than $4 million in debt.

Eva, 38, and Ernesto, 34, met when he was cast on “Ready for Love,” a reality matchmaking show the brunette beauty produced for NBC – which was canceled after three episodes earlier this year.

“The show bombed in the ratings, but Eva found love from it,” said a pal.

On July 7, the Latina stunner tweeted a photo of her and Ernesto with their arms around each other inside Paris’ Notre Dame Cathedral. The caption read: “Thanking God for finding each other!”

THE RELATIONSHIP SEEMS TO BE moving along at lightning speed, and Eva’s friends and family are begging the twice-divorced actress to slow things down.

“Eva has had so many failed relationships over the past year, I’m afraid she is going into this one with blinders on,” said the pal.

Since divorcing NBA superstar Tony Parker in 2011, Eva has dated Penelope Cruz’s brother, Eduardo Cruz, and New York Jets quarterback Mark Sanchez.

“But now Eva only has eyes for Ernesto,” continued the pal. “He appears to be the complete package. He’s good-looking and charming, but he’s had severe financial problems, which came to a head last year.”

Eva’s ex-hubby Tony Parker is now engaged to journalist Axelle Francine

The fit couple enjoyed some water sports together

The Latina stunner’s friends are urging her to slow things down with entrepreneur Ernesto Arguello, says a pal

BANKRUPTCY shame of Eva’s new hunk

‘Desperate’ beauty’s
BEAU HAD $4 MILLION IN DEBT

According to court documents obtained exclusively by The ENQUIRER, Ernesto filed Chapter 7 bankruptcy in 2012, listing $1,555 in assets and a whopping $4.1 million in total liabilities. At the time, he claimed he had just $5 cash on hand.

He listed more than $60,000 in outstanding student loan debt.

The bankruptcy petition revealed that he was on the hook for a whopping $4 million because he listed himself as a guarantor on a business debt from 2007.

Even worse, the court papers said handsome Ernesto was unemployed at the time of the filing, getting by on $2,000 a month he received from his family. With nearly $1,980 going toward monthly expenses, that left him about $20 pocket cash.

Eva and Ernesto cruise around in a pricey Bentley

By comparison, Eva is worth an estimated $35 million.

Ernesto has been associated with at least 10 businesses in the last six years. His latest venture, Education Model Towns, LLC, was established in March 2013.

Those close to Eva – whose first husband was soap star Tyler

Christopher – fear she may be rushing the relationship because she’s trying to compete with her second ex, Tony Parker. He recently announced he was engaged to gorgeous French journalist Axelle Francine, 31.

“Eva needs to slow down and really discover what Ernesto is all about,” added the pal. “We do know one thing, though – Eva will probably be picking up the check for a while.”

FACTORY WORKERS RUB THE BUDDHA

Win $208 Million!

You may have read about the Buddha. About how the Buddha is "famous" for bringing great wealth and extraordinary riches to anyone who rubs his generous belly.

DOCUMENTED FACT:

Many people, after rubbing the Buddha, have won Millions upon Millions of Dollars in the Lottery!

FACT #1:

Factory worker's rub Buddha – win $208 million dollars.

FACT #2:

Married couple rub lottery ticket against Buddha – win $2.2 million dollars.

Can the Buddha – this legendary, world-renowned figure – put a "good luck" spell upon its owner?

Can the Buddha open a pathway of riches for you?

Look closely at the Buddha. Very closely.

Can you feel a mystical, magical power radiating from this beloved figure? Can you sense a pulsating energy? Can you feel a captivating aura? An electrifying power of attraction? A dynamic, unstoppable force? A dazzling ascent to good fortune and prosperity?

Can YOU amass great wealth by rubbing the Buddha? Read this:

As actually reported by major newspapers and national TV on September 28, 2006, the organizers of a lottery pool at a Wisconsin cheese factory, had tried good luck charms for 3 years.

Then a worker suggested rubbing the belly of a Buddha statue.

They set the Buddha in a locker – and people went in to rub it.

Right after their luck changed. They won a $208.6 MILLION POWERBALL JACKPOT.

And then a married couple rub their lottery ticket against Buddha – AND WON $2.2 MILLION DOLLARS.

Why have these people become rich by rubbing the Buddha?

Our universe is filled with mystery.

The fact is this: There are things in life that cannot be explained. Events that baffle the imagination. Occurrences that defy logic. Incidents that challenge reason.

There are many examples of this obtain the Buddha right now.

Once the Buddha is in your possession, do this: Hold the legendary Buddha in your right hand. Then slowly, very slowly,

When you send for the Buddha, you are a GUARANTEED Winner!

People have won Millions upon Millions of Dollars by rubbing the Buddha. (Documented fact.)

But we realize this: There is just one way to prove to you, directly, the legendary power of the Buddha. You MUST obtain the Buddha...rub the Buddha's belly...and then discover for yourself the amazing things that may actually occur for you!

This is why you've been given a fabulous GUARANTEE: Within 30 days of obtaining the Buddha, you must experience a miracle (like big money!). If not, you can get DOUBLE your money back, no questions asked.

In other words, either way you're a winner! (You cannot lose.)

"unexplainable" phenomena. The "miracle" of Lourdes. The "miracle" of Fatima. The parting of the Red Sea.

Events like these have mystified mankind for ages.

And so it is with the enduring legend of the Buddha. Its powerful effect on people is shrouded in mystery and magic.

Is it YOUR turn to get lucky by rubbing the Buddha?

Do you, too, want to change your luck right now?

If so many people have gotten lucky by rubbing the Buddha, why can't YOU do the exact same thing?

Why can't YOU also harness the legendary power of the Buddha to make your dreams come true?

Why can't YOU also have the same experience as the Wisconsin cheese workers – and rub the Buddha to win money?

If you do not think you are a lesser person – if you feel you are entitled to rub the Buddha and win money, then you should rub the Buddha's famed belly in slow circles with your left hand.

And you may be amazed at what happens. Joyful. Rapturous Ecstatic. Thrilled beyond belief.

When you obtain the great, legendary Buddha you must be totally pleased or you can get DOUBLE your money back!

Because so many people have won so much money with the Buddha, with your order you receive an incredible GUARANTEE: The Buddha MUST produce a miracle for you within 30 days, or return it and receive DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK – no strings attached!

And because we want you to become rich also.

If you want to win money with the Buddha – just like so many others have done – do this now:

1) Complete the coupon and send it along with only $39.95.

2) Mail coupon to: The Buddha, 111 East 14th St., Box 380, New York, NY 10003.

Please remember: When you receive the Buddha, you are GUARANTEED to experience a miracle within just 30 days after you receive it. If not, return it for DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK. So mail the coupon below right now. Don't miss out on this incredible opportunity.

Do it now, so you don't forget about it.

FIGHT LIKE A GIRL!

Survivor teaches other women
HOW TO DEFEND THEMSELVES

WHEN a creep grabbed Angela Champagne-From in a parking garage and stabbed her, she fled into the car. She stomped on his feet, kicked, pinched and bit him, and squeezed his testicles until he relented and left her for dead. Amazingly, Angela survived despite a 10-inch-deep knife wound, and now she teaches women about self-defense in her "Fight Like a Girl" seminars.

"I am thankful every day that I'm alive," said Angela, 30, who's made a complete recovery.

"Now I want to give back with the only message that I know. Fight like a girl – your life could depend on it."

ANGELA'S NIGHTMARE UNFOLDED after she left her job as a legal clerk in downtown Minneapolis, Minn., on April 19. She was getting into her car when she felt a knife at her throat, and a man's voice said: "We're going for a ride."

At first she thought it was a joke. But when she grabbed the knife and sliced her thumb open, she knew it was very real.

"I went into fight mode," she said, describing how she bit his hand when he tried to cover her mouth. He stabbed her deeply in the abdomen, and she still refused to submit, kicking him and grabbing his crotch as he tried to push her into the car.

"I managed to turn around and saw a white man in a business suit holding a hunting knife covered in blood," she recalled.

Stunned, Angela asked: "What do you want?"

The creep replied: "You're lucky you're a fighter," and walked off.

Despite her injuries, Angela managed to call 911.

She had emergency surgery to repair a 10-inch stab wound that had pierced her liver, adrenal glands and back muscles.

Her assailant, 48-year-old Robert John Meyers, was caught later that day after stealing a woman's purse.

Police say he's a serial attacker who served five years in jail after kidnapping and raping an Iowa woman. He's been sentenced to 20 years for assaulting

"One in five women will get raped at some point in their lives," Angela said. "I set up 'Fight Like a Girl' to send a strong message to women that we can still fight back."

ANGELA'S TIPS

1. ALWAYS be aware of your surroundings and the people around you.
2. CARRY mace or pepper spray at all times.
3. AVOID dark streets and bad neighborhoods, especially if you're alone.
4. BODY LANGUAGE is important. Keep your head up and eyes ahead.
5. ALWAYS use the elevator, not the stairs.
6. DON'T stop to help a stranger. Instead, phone for help from the safety of your car or a store.
7. CARRY a cell phone at all times and program 911 if possible.
8. CONSIDER enrolling in self-defense training.
9. IF YOU ARE ATTACKED, fight, fight, fight! Poke the eyes, elbow the face – do whatever it takes.
10. IF SOMEONE POINTS A GUN AT YOU, run away in a zigzag path. It's unlikely he'll be a good enough shot to hit you.

Charlotte was just 41 when she succumbed to cancer on June 28

PIERCE BROSINAN'S REGRET

Medical test COULD HAVE SAVED STAR'S DAUGHTER – says expert

PIERCE BROSINAN might have been spared the heartache of losing his beloved daughter Charlotte to ovarian cancer if she had only undergone the same genetic testing as Angelina Jolie, says an expert.

Diagnosed with the deadly cancer three years ago, Charlotte endured chemo and radiation treatments before succumbing to the devastating disease on June 28 at age 41. But if she had known that she carried the faulty BRCA gene that's a marker for breast and ovarian cancer, she might have been able to take lifesaving action, an expert tell The ENQUIRER.

Charlotte was considered high risk for ovarian cancer. Her mom Cassandra, Pierce's first wife, died from the disease at age 43 in 1991, and Charlotte's grandmother suffered the same fate.

"THE FACT THAT HER MOTHER WAS pretty young when she died of ovarian cancer is a huge tip-off that the disease was inherited," Dr. Herman Kattlove, a retired oncologist and former spokesperson for the American Cancer Society, told The ENQUIRER.

"Charlotte certainly could have been tested for the BRCA gene mutation. And because of the apparent genetic predisposition, one could have recommended that she remove her ovaries as soon as she was finished with childbearing."

That's the route Angelina Jolie is taking. In May, the actress revealed that she had opted to undergo a double mastectomy after testing positive for the mutated BRCA1 gene. She's also planning to have her ovaries removed as a preventive measure. But Charlotte didn't take the same path, leaving Pierce haunted, says a source.

Pierce with first wife Cassandra, sons Sean and Chris and daughter Charlotte (circled) in 1985

"Pierce is heartbroken and kicking himself for not making sure Charlotte was tested for the cancer gene," confided a longtime friend. "He adored Charlotte and underwent the same agony he suffered when his beloved Cassie died."

Pierce, 60, married Cassandra, the divorced mother of two young children,

Angelina Jolie has the same faulty gene that Pierce's daughter had. On left, the actor's current wife, Keely

Charlotte and Chris, in 1980. When the children's father died in 1986, the former James Bond star adopted them. "Charlotte was Pierce's little princess," said the source. "But she led a troubled life in her early 30s, battling depression and drug addiction. On at least three occasions, she entered rehab before finally defeating her demons."

Charlotte had secretly married her artist boyfriend Alex Smith two weeks before her death, according to sources. Pierce escorted her down the aisle in what's been described as a "very moving" ceremony.

"It was not a day to be sad," said the family friend. "Alex and Pierce were both smiling broadly."

Sadly, the mom of two, Isabella, 15, and Lucas, 8, was destined to soon lose her brave battle.

"Pierce knew his daughter's diagnosis wasn't good, but he kept hoping and praying she would beat cancer," said the friend.

"Losing Charlotte has devastated him. We can only hope that time will help him and his family heal."

NEW DRUG for blinding eye disease

★ People with age-related macular degeneration already have two drugs that ease symptoms of this leading cause of vision loss and blindness – and now there is a third option.

Researchers at the University of Iowa have shown that injections of Eylea worked as well as established eye injectables, Avastin and Lucentis.

“What this means is if you have a patient who’s not responding to Avastin or Lucentis, they need to try this new drug,” says Dr. Vinit Mahajan.

FRUCTOSE linked to liver damage

★ In a lab study, researchers were shocked to see how quickly a diet high in fructose can lead to liver damage, even without weight gain.

In the six-week study, scientists at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center fed a group of monkeys a calorie-controlled diet with 24 percent fructose, while another group ate a similar diet but with only about .5 percent fructose. They found liver damage more than doubled in the animals fed a high-fructose diet. Fructose is the most popular added sugar in the American diet.

“What surprised us the most was how quickly the liver was affected and how extensive the damage was,” says researcher Kylie Kavanagh.

★ People with obstructive sleep apnea, a disorder that causes breathing stoppages during sleep, might be at greater risk of sudden cardiac death.

Mayo Clinic researchers in Rochester, Minn., analyzed sleep studies over a five-year period from 10,701 people and found that sudden death risk was almost double for those who stopped breathing more than 20 times per hour of sleep.

Sleep apnea is treatable with weight loss, sleep posture changes and the use of some devices.

SLEEP PROBLEM COULD KILL YOU

★ Testosterone therapy could be the next weapon to fight dementia in women, suggests a study.

New research involved 96 postmenopausal women who received either a testosterone gel or placebo for 26 weeks.

Results found that women in the testosterone group had greater improvement in learning and memory.

Professor Susan Davis of Australia’s Monash University states: “Our findings provide compelling evidence for the conduct of larger clinical studies to further investigate the role of testosterone in cognitive function in women.”

OVERWEIGHT INFANTS risk health later

★ Chubby infants may look cute, but excess baby fat is linked to increased risks of future health woes.

In a study of nearly 400 kids from infancy through age 8, Australian researchers at the University of Sydney found that significant weight gain from birth to 18 months was a precursor for obesity, high blood pressure and thickening of artery walls in later years.

The best way to avoid excessive weight gain early in a child’s life is to breast-feed for at least six months, study’s lead author Dr. Michael Skilton.

CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

A Life Without 'Belly Fat'

How One Woman Overcomes Tragedy and Creates the Life She's Always Wanted – By Tiffany Strobel*

Mindy DeForest's wake-up call about her weight problem was heartbreaking and profound: her sister died of colon cancer. "My sister was overweight, and I knew that being overweight myself put me more at risk for all sorts of health issues," she says. "I knew something had to change."

At 208 pounds, Mindy was the heaviest she'd ever been. Even having children hadn't caused her to gain so much weight, but the stress of caring for and eventually losing her sister, as well as being in an unhappy marriage, had caused her weight to balloon. "I'm a total stress eater," she says. "I kept turning to food for emotional reasons, and I was really putting on weight."

Like most people, Mindy had tried dieting in the past. Over the course of ten years she tried Weight Watchers, Body for Life, ephedra... pretty much everything. But unfortunately, nothing was working for her.

Mindy decided to try losing weight one more time, so she began working with a personal trainer. It didn't take long before her trainer realized that a big part of her weight-gain issues revolved around stress eating, so he recommended she try a product called Relacore®.

"He told me it was a 'belly fat' pill that could help me feel less stressed, give me energy, and improve my mood," Mindy says. She admits she was pessimistic after having tried so many products that hadn't worked in the past, but says, "My trainer really believed in it, so I agreed to give it a try."

It didn't take long before Mindy was convinced of Relacore's effectiveness. "I really noticed a difference in my mood. I was in the process of getting divorced and was worried I'd suffer from depression, but Relacore made a huge difference for me. I never felt down. I stopped my 'nervous' eating. And I could really tell from my mood when I missed a day, so I knew it was doing something for me."

Before long, the inches started dropping off, and Mindy's entire life began to change. "My self-esteem went through the roof. I started getting job offers, and I felt like for the first time in years, people were paying attention to me. When I was overweight it was like I just blended into the background, but then I started getting thin

"When I was overweight it was like I just blended into the background, but then I started getting thin and all of a sudden people were noticing me."

and all of a sudden people were noticing me." But then Mindy hit the dreaded "weight-loss plateau" and almost gave up on ever reaching her goal...

until her trainer recommended a second product: Zantrex®-3 High Energy Fat Burner. "He told me it could help me get past my plateau and start losing again," Mindy says, "and I'd had so much success with Relacore that I didn't hesitate to try it."

Mindy added Zantrex to her Relacore/diet and exercise regimen, and it gave her the extra boost she needed to blow through her plateau and start dropping even more weight.

"With help from Relacore and Zantrex, I've lost 55 pounds, and I'm still going. I haven't been this thin since my twenties. I just bought a new skirt, and when I was trying it on it felt so amazing to keep telling the store clerk to bring me a smaller size. I ended up buying a size 2. It was awesome. I couldn't believe it."

But for Mindy, the greatest accomplishment isn't being able to fit into a size 2. "It's knowing that I really had the power to change my life. When I was overweight, I was miserable. But now everyone around me can see the difference losing weight has made not just in my physical appearance, but in everything. I have energy, I'm positive, I'm outgoing. My whole outlook on life has changed. I'm just so happy."

Heard about "Combo-Pilling"?

The highly controversial practice of Combo-Pilling is truly an underground phenomenon. Odds are, if you know someone who's losing lots of weight, and losing it fast, you probably know someone who's Combo-Pilling... like Mindy D. Why? Because it allows people to attack multiple facets of weight loss – like dropping fat, overcoming stress eating, and having enough energy to work out – all at the same time.

According to the Internet, the most popular Combo-Pilling duo is Zantrex and Relacore. You can find them both at Wal-Mart, Walgreens, Rite-Aid, CVS, and GNC, or order them separately from their respective manufacturers, Zantrex-3 at Zantrex3.com (1-800-299-8115) Relacore at Relacore.com (1-800-910-1426) or at TryComboPilling.com. Use the promo code COMBOPILL22 at checkout and shipping is free!†

LEN FELDMAN'S BEST BETS ON TV

What's hot
this week

Liev Schreiber, Paula Malcomson and Kerris Dorsey (walking behind)

Ray Donovan

Sunday, July 21, 10 p.m. ET, Showtime

Tonight, on the best hard-boiled crime family drama since "The Sopranos" and "Magic City," L.A.'s top professional "fixer" Ray Donovan (Liev Schreiber) goes with Abby (Paula Malcomson) and the kids (Kerris Dorsey and Devon Bagby) to visit the prestigious Bel-Air Academy. But Ray's phone never stops ringing with news about the imminent arrest of Mickey (Jon Voight, who really steals this episode), his Irish mobster dad from Boston who has gone to Palm Springs to visit his ex-girlfriend, Claudette (Sheryl Lee Ralph), and collect his money. Rough, tough, uncompromising and with a powerhouse cast, "Ray Donovan" is one edgy and entertaining series.

Falling Skies

Sunday, July 21, 10 p.m. ET, TNT

Someone or something is playing serious mind games on Tom Mason (Noah Wyle) to find out which city the rebels will attack. This episode will definitely play with your head as well, as Tom shifts from his Boston before the alien invasion to more intense and horrifying scenarios designed to make him give up the location. Meanwhile, suspicion falls on Marina (guest star Gloria Reuben) as being the mole, and Pope (Colin Cunningham) and Weaver (Will Patton) clash on how to handle it in what is one of the very best written episodes of this hit series so far.

Breaking Pointe (Season Premiere)

Monday, July 22, 9 p.m. ET, The CW

It's time for more ripped bodies, torn hearts and broken bones as this excellent docu-drama set in the fiercely competitive world of professional ballet returns. As the dancers come back from Winter Break, we find that demi-soloists Rex and Allison have lost their relationship while Allison is deciding if she should move to Michigan and give up ballet to start a family with her long-distance boyfriend. First soloist Ronnie is in danger of losing his foot, which he seriously injured during "The Nutcracker" last season. Meanwhile, everyone, including Prima Ballerina Christiana and Rex, is vying to be Cinderella and Prince Charming in the upcoming production of "Cinderella."

Camp

Wednesday, July 24, 10 p.m. ET, NBC

Tonight on this randy, sexy and unpredictable family dramedy set in the Little Otter Family Camp – where parents chill out with gin and tonics while their kids run wild, and teenage counselors fall in and out of love – Mack (Rachel Griffiths) and the team prepare to host the annual mixer with the obnoxiously swank Camp Ridgefield. Meanwhile, Kip's (Thom Green), crush on Marina (Lily Sullivan) deepens. And Sarah's (Dena Kaplan) swim coach makes her an offer to keep her on the team...on certain conditions. If you prefer spending your summer vacations in the comfort of your air-conditioned living room, then this weekly mountain getaway is the perfect TV destination.

'DALLAS' TURF WAR BREWING

Original cast members Patrick Duffy and Linda Gray

Old stars
SQUARING
OFF against newcomers

WITHOUT Larry Hagman, "Dallas" producers fear the set of the rebooted nighttime soap will erupt in a Texas-size brawl, sources say.

The beloved actor – who passed away at age 81 in November 2012 – kept the peace between the stars of the original series and the newcomers hired for the TNT update, add the sources.

"WITH LARRY GONE, PRODUCERS are worried 'Dallas' is going to turn into 'Showdown at the O.K. Corral,'" said an insider. "Larry was the glue that held the show together, and the cast got along pretty well last season after his death. But everyone was still in mourning then. This season all bets are off."

The reboot of the classic prime-time soap follows the next generation of Ewings as they battle over the family's oil empire. According to sources, original stars Patrick Duffy and Linda Gray returned to the show at Hagman's urging, and they didn't really bond with new cast members Jesse Metcalfe, Julie Gonzalo, Josh Henderson and Jordana Brewster.

"Larry worked overtime to make the younger cast members feel they were part of the team, and he even fought for their story lines," the insider said. "But Patrick and Linda basically kept to themselves."

"Now producers are afraid there will be ego clashes between the old guard and the new."

Meanwhile, executives are trying to strike a balance. "They know many of the old 'Dallas' fans tune in to see their favorite characters again," the insider explained. "But at the same time, they need younger cast members to draw a new audience."

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

"STAYIN' Alive" singer Barry Gibb is writing a song inspired by the sensational trial of convicted killer Jodi Arias!

Arias, 33, faces possible execution in Arizona after being found guilty of the brutal murder of her ex-boyfriend, Travis Alexander, in June 2008.

"What I am writing at the moment is a track about the Jodi Arias trial in America," said Gibb – the only surviving member of the famous singing brothers, the Bee Gees.

"The girl has been found guilty and is facing the death penalty. There will be at least one track about that – it has really struck me."

IN HER TRIAL, THE VIXEN claimed self-defense – even though she stabbed Alexander 27 times, shot him in the head and slashed his throat.

The 66-year-old Grammy winner says he decided to write more music after contemplating the untimely loss of his brothers. Robin Gibb died of colon cancer last year at 62, while Robin's twin Maurice died at age 53 after emergency surgery in 2003. Both were in the Bee Gees.

Youngest sibling Andy died in 1988 at age 30 after a losing battle with drugs and depression.

"I'm writing about the events in my life," added Barry. "Robin and Maurice are always with me anyway...they will be part of it."

THE REAL ALE HOUSE

“The fun is being able to see what you have

Collector builds home just for his
83,000 BEER CANS

THE beer's on the house at Jeff Lebo's place – literally!

The Pennsylvania man built a 6,500-square-foot dwelling just for his collection of 83,000 beer cans!

“I'm not even a big drinker,” said Lebo, 51, a landscape design and construction company owner.

“Maybe two or three beers every other weekend. But when I was a teenager my father worked for the American Can Company and I got to wondering how many different types of beer cans were out there.”

He was just 13 when he started picking up beer cans on the roads near his home in York Haven.

LATER, HE JOINED COLLECTORS CLUBS and started trading cans through the mail. Then the Internet arrived, and his hobby has exploded to dealing with folks all over the world.

His cans range from the 1930s to the present day. Most are in great condition, but some of the rare older ones are rusted and scratched.

“Believe it or not, a lot of cans come from wooden residential houses built in the '30s, '40s and '50s,” he said.

“Workers would drink on the job and then leave the cans between the walls. Folks doing renovations find them all the time – all protected from the elements.”

World War II also spawned a fascinating variety, he said.

“During and after the war, the military contracted with 30 different breweries across the country to produce beer with special olive drab cans to ship to soldiers overseas,” he said.

“Schlitz of Milwaukee made beer for Wisconsin units. Schmidt's of Philadelphia made beer for Pennsylvania troops. Those olive drab cans told a story of how we lifted the morale of our troops stationed overseas.”

Jeff Lebo (inset right) has turned his passion into a business by operating his Brewhouse Mountain Eco-Inn as a bed and breakfast. His beer cans range from the 1930s to present day

Lebo's collection had been gathering dust in attics and garages until 15 years ago. That's when he and his father began building the five-bedroom house that now displays his collection along with other brewery memorabilia, such as signs and trays.

Beer cans fill every wall in the home, and Lebo even built walls that roll back to reveal – more cans!

There's a room for German, Swedish, African and Pacific Rim cans. Other sections display Canadian, American and British cans.

“The fun in being a collector is being able to see what you have,” said Lebo, who's turned his hobby into a business, operating his Brewhouse Mountain Eco-Inn as a bed and breakfast.

But he still spends time on eBay and communicating with other collectors around the world, always searching for new pieces.

“A couple of years ago, I went to Scotland in February and went scuba diving in Loch Lomond to find cans I'd heard about,” he said.

“It's sort of like hunting for treasure, finding that one item you might have been seeking for decades.”
